

Additional Info

The photo below shows about 2.5 of the 3 mile stretch of Playa Grande beach, ending at Palm Beach - you can just make out the community in the photo near the bottom edge. The larger map allows you to see details of Palm Beach Estates. There are virtually no other houses besides those in Palm Beach Estates until you get to the little town of Playa Grande at the far northern end).

The map above, from <http://www.unicaribbean.com> , shows the following (all relative to the large figure 8 created by the main road):

* Casa

Kalumina - second red plot on the inside top left of the lower loop. Across the street is the Hotelito SiSiSi's little beach bar (orange). The two orange plots just to the north are the Cantarana hotel restaurant.

* Charlys - the six Charlys are grouped in the three red plots at the inside lower right of the top loop. The three orange plots further to the right are the hotel Bula Bula. The larger orange plot between the Kalumina and the Charly is a convenience store and BBQ.

Some of the best of Palm Beach estates on the southern end of Playa Grande: (see the estate plan on the Beach page)

* Hotel Bula Bula...the great hotel bar is the best place around to meet the locals and have an all around great time! Bordering the estuary (with Tamarindo taxi service to the dock). Their web site also has the best information concerning how to get to Palm Beach from absolutely anywhere, how to rent car, planes...check it out!

* Hotel Cantarana...Without question so of the finest dining in all of Costa Rica and just three doors down from the rental properties. Really a very special treat!

* Check out www.tamarindobeach.net. This is a fun way to explore what's in Tamarindo (on follow the signs to Playa Grande!)
